

VCW Wireless Ltd. Appointed as Memorylink Distributor

Posted May 10, 2011

VCW Wireless only works with a select number of “Best of Breed” vendors

Elgin, IL, May 10, 2011

Memorylink, a global leader in innovation of wireless voice and data technologies, announced today the appointment of VCW Wireless Ltd. as its first UK distributor.

VCW Wireless Ltd. Is a specialist, value-added distributor focused on helping its VAR partners profit in the wireless connectivity marketplace. It provides a complete portfolio of leading edge solutions including a range of Wi-Fi architecture products, point-to-point and point-to-multipoint technologies and high capacity backhaul connectivity as well as antennas and other accessories.

Working with a select number of “Best of Breed” vendors, the technologies represented by VCW Wireless come from leading edge, non-competing vendors that have clearly differentiated solutions from their competitors and each other.

“We are delighted to launch this new working relationship with VCW Wireless Ltd. “said Thomas A. Freeburg, Chief Executive Officer of Memorylink. “VCW Wireless will help us introduce the Memorylink product line to a wide range of UK wireless customers, including operators, wireless internet service providers, wireless CCTV specialists and a large number of enterprise users looking for solid performance, reliability and competitively priced products. And, we are particularly excited to work with VCW Wireless Ltd to introduce the Gigahertz Family of radios to the UK.”

More information about VCW Wireless Ltd. is available at <http://vcwwireless.com/>.

About Memorylink

Memorylink partners with customers to create innovative, cost-effective and low interference product solutions that address their immediate and long-term wireless broadband needs.

For more information, visit Memorylink at www.memorylink.com.